Did you ever see a Snow Storm in Summer?

We never did; but we have seen the clothing at this time of the year so covered with dandruff that it looked as if it had been out in a regular snow-storm.

No need of this snow-storm. As the summer sun would melt the falling snow so will melt these flakes of dandruff in the scalp. It goes further than this; it prevents their formation. It has still other properties: it will restore color to gray hair in just ten times out of every ten cases.

And it does even more: it feeds and nourishes the roots of the hair. Thin hair becomes thick, long, and short hair becomes long hair.

We have a book on the Hair and Scalp. It is yours, for the asking.

If you do not obtain all the benefits you expect from the use of the Vigor, write the doctor about it. Probably there is some difficulty in your general system which may be easily remedied. Address: Dr. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Mass.

PAMUNKEY INDIANS.

In King William county, Va., not more than twenty-five miles from Richmond, there live the only remains of a once large and powerful tribe of Indians. When Pocahontas saved John Smith from the club, the Pamunkeys numbered some 20,000, and could raise an effective force of 3,000 warriors. Less than one hundred now are left, says the Cincinnati Enquirer, and, although the birth rate has in the last decade slightly exceeded the death-rate, there is little probability that they can maintain their individuality another century. Yet they want for nothing, have more land than they know what to do with, and are all in all the richest of red aristocrats. They live on a little peninsula—a bottle-shaped neck of land, comprising some 800 acres, of which 250 are under cultivation. They are far more wealthy, considered per capita, than any nation in the world, and far more happy. Their tract abounds in game, which is one of their chief sources of subsistence. It is secured to them by an act of the colonial legislature. They hold it in common, are prohibited from alienating the title, and are exempt from taxes, although, under an ancient law, they are required to supply the Governor of Virginia colony with a certain amount of wild game. This practice still continues, and during the shooting season, spring and fall, they are in the habit, now and then, of sending the Governor, by the conductor of the train, a bunch of wild ducks or a haunch of venison.

The Pamunkeys have no relation with the United States government. They receive no annuities, and their names are not upon the rolls of the Indian office. The State of Virginia annually appoints five trustees to look after their interests, but the office is perfectly sinecure, as the Indians are perfectly capable of looking after a council of four, and exercise executive, legislative and judicial functions. Every member of the tribe is allowed to vote, and on the day appointed they meet at the council house, with usually two candidates to choose from. Those in favor of one indicate their choice by dropping a grain of corn into the ballot box; those who prefer the other indicate it by dropping a bean in the same place. These native officials take care of the tribe, punish all offenses except felonies, over which the State courts have jurisdiction, and conduct a co-operative merchandise store, which is patronized by white people in the neighborhood, as well as the members of the tribe. The Indians are temperate, moral, peaceable and industrious. Very few of them are full-blooded. During the 300 years of contact with the whites and the negroes around them they have been unable to preserve their racial integrity, although the laws of the tribe prohibit cohabitation or marriage with persons of African descent. They are exceedingly proud of their lineage, and, while they would probably acknowledge the white aristocracy of Virginia their equals, they decline to have anything to do with the blacks, and some years ago raised a miniature rebellion because a mulatto woman was placed in charge of the public school upon their reservation.

Realizing that continual intermarriage has impaired the physical condition of the tribe, they have recently appointed a committee to treat with the remnant of the Cherokee Indian nation of North Carolina on this subject.

The Pamunkeys are not only thoroughly civilized, but are quite inclined to be religious. The best building on their reservation is a Baptist church, at which nearly every member of the tribe attends service twice on Sunday, under the ministrations of a native preacher.

AMELIA RIVER'S FORMER HUSBAND.

The Supreme Court of New York has decided that John Armstrong Chanler is incompetent to manage himself or his affairs. Mr. Chanler was the former husband of Amelia River Chanler, now Princess Troubetzkoy.

Proceedings were begun by Lewis S. and Winthrop Chanler, brothers of John Armstrong Chanler, who alleged that he is incapable of managing his own affairs.

Chanler was not in court, his counsel saying his condition is such that he could not leave the Bloomingdale Asylum. Dr. Samuel P. Lyon, of Bloomingdale, testified that Mr. Chanler became an inmate of that institution in 1897. He said Mr. Chanler is a paranoiac and incurable. Dr. Charles F. Macdonald corroborated Dr. Lyon. An application will now be made to the Supreme Court for a committee to take charge of his person and estate.

CAFE CAR SERVICE.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement, that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework, and is as well as she ever was.—Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, Drug Store. Only 50 cents and $1.00, every bottle guaranteed.

His Life Was Saved.

If you have piles, cure them. No use undergoing horrible operations that simply remove the results of the disease without disturbing the disease itself. Place your confidence in DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It has never failed to cure others; it will not fail to cure you. Edgar Warfield, Jr., corner King and Pitt streets.

I was seriously afflicted with a cough for several years, and last fall had a more severe cough than ever before. I have used many remedies without receiving much relief, and being recommended to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, by a friend, who knew me to be a poor widow, gave it to me. I tried it, and with the most gratifying results. The first bottle relieved me very much and the second bottle has absolutely cured me. I have not had as good health for twenty years. Respectfully, Mrs. MARY A. BEARD, Claremore, Ark. For sale by J. H. Janney, Druggist, 701 King St.

Thomas Thurman, deputy sheriff of Troy, Mo., says if every one in the United States could discover the virtue of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve for piles, rectal troubles and skin diseases, the demand could not be supplied. Edgar Warfield, Jr., corner King and Pitt streets.

Alaska Refrigerators,

And every one of them will tell you it is superior to any refrigerator they have ever seen. This is not an experiment. This refrigerator has taken the first prize at the World's Fair, Chicago, and Cotton States' Exposition, New Orleans.

IT USES LESS ICE THAN ANY REFRIGERATOR MADE

You do not buy a refrigerator every year, so buy the best when you do. It costs a little more than other kinds at the start, but it is so much cheaper in the end. We can give you the names of purchasers of at least ten (10) of this make that have been constantly in use in Alexandria, summer and winter, for ten years. We are sole agents here.
